MONTESSORI ONE CURRENT TEACHER TESTIMONIAL

As a graduate of the Washington Montessori Institute, I found I had many opportunities when it came to finding a job. I began my career at a private Montessori on the South Side of Chicago. Though I was happy there, my now husband led me to seek employment in the Baltimore/D.C area. I set out to deliver the Montessori curriculum to children in the Washington D.C. public school system. I was part of the citywide effort and successful AMI accreditation of the D.C. public school Montessori program. Despite success there I still found myself looking for an environment where I felt I could truly thrive. When I came to Montessori One I knew I had found it. What I appreciate about Montessori One are the tremendous opportunities for growth, the high standards for children and faculty alike, the autonomy within my own classroom, and the opportunities afforded for professional development. The director, Tina Patel, is supportive and encouraging, offering all of us in-house training as well as annual opportunities to attend the AMI refresher course. I am very satisfied with my work here at Montessori One serving a diverse community of children and families.

Kate Mitchell, Primary Guide

“Montessori ONE the school has provided the most amazing, safe, enjoyable and nurturing environment for our children, along with an incredible foundation for learning, growth and development. As a teacher, I like to celebrate every accomplishment our children make and enjoy the challenge of meeting each child’s need. I find my inspiration in the brilliance of each child’s potential. I thank Ms. Tina for providing a foundation for our children and am blessed to be a part of an amazing school! It’s the little moments in each day at Montessori ONE that makes work so special.” - Sarita Prabhakaran, Primary Guide
