Getting Around

If you have the option of having a car here, it is certainly recommended. However, if you don't have a car, San Diego has public transportation. Buses run throughout the city, and there are many routes that have stops near the Institute. Please refer to the San Diego Metropolitan Transit Authority for more information: <http://www.sdcommute.com/>
The only way to walk to the training center is if you happen to find housing in an apartment complex on Gilman Drive or on Villa La Jolla Dr.
