

Dr. Maria Montessori never patented or trademarked any of her designed teaching materials or methodology. She was hopeful her work would be the beginning to an important movement in education. While this dream has led to the development and evolution of her work, it has also opened the door for misrepresentation and erroneous practices in many schools and classrooms.

Are you fulfilled and happy at the school you're working? If you are frustrated with your current school for not respecting your role in the classroom or worse yet, not abiding by the Montessori philosophy consider applying at Healthy Beginnings Montessori House.

We are a small teacher owned and operated Private Montessori school; passionate and genuinely devoted to following the Montessori philosophy. Our inspiration is on preserving the quality and essence of our Montessori program. Most importantly, at Healthy Beginnings, we recognize the value of our teachers and the important role they play in our community.
